Half a Feeling

Get away
Away from your family tree
You're a Blue Ridge Mountain in Tennessee

You thought I was different but you were wrong
We're like the lyrics of a country song
You were batting your lashes you'll scatter my ashes at sea

I got half a feeling
You're not the one who's really alive

Carry on into the moonlit fog
She was mostly tragic eventually

You thought I was different but you were wrong
We're like the lyrics of a country song
You were doing some acid and skipping some classes with me

I got half a feeling
You're not
the one who's really alive

Made of Moods

She's on her way
She don't know it, but she's OK

There's an imposter sitting in her chair
A balled up scrunchie in her hair
And she don't know where to go

She's made of moods

She's on holiday
While her brain says she's a disgrace

There's another way for this to go
Don't wanna be depressed or get vertigo
Just pack your bags for Santa Fe

She's made of moods

Day after day you wanna make a change
Last lap I'll race you to the runway
Day after day you wanna make a change
You wanna make a change

Until

Everything I ever thought I knew
Now I see it's just a crooked line
In my mind

Everything I ever thought I'd do
Now I see another hill to climb
All the time

So I will wait until
And I will stay until

Everything I ever wanted, too
Now I see it isn't worth a dime
I was blind

Everything I ever asked of you
Now I see that you're the missing rhyme
In this design

So I will wait until
And I will stay until

Sticks & Stones

Somersaults and summer days
When the freeways hum in all the summer haze

Sticks and stones and broken bones
All the friends you lose and nights up on the phone
When you're alone

And I know
There's nothing I can say
There's nothing I can do
There's nothing I would change about you

Make believe and hide and seek
In the hills and houses of our city street
Beneath the trees

Sticks and stones and broken homes
When your hair gets long and you're out on your own
You're not alone

And I know
There's nothing I would change about you

10 & 2

I can't remember now what we said that night
Just the feeling that it could be alright
We haven't talked in a year or two Thinking about what I couldn't do

You know when I'm alone
A simple search and I'm reading you
All the words and files, scrolling miles and miles
Years go by and I can feel you

There's a box of charms and a drawer of rolls
I know where they are, they're real
But 1 pm, I'll type cast iron pan
All the sudden then, I'm reading you

I know there's little mines
Hidden everywhere out of place and time Present disappears and you're so near
On either side I can see you

Everybody says that it's been so long
And I guess it's true but I don't know how
Your words are always there and I shouldn't care
They surprise me, reminding me
What I can't say to you

10 & 2

I'm going to print them out, get them perfect bound
And on the 16th page I'll press a wildflower
Put it on the shelf, make a toast to health
And forget it's there for a while

You know about desire
It's a terrible thing but I rely on mine
I could forget, rather than regret
Better keep it there forever

Everybody says that it's been so long
And I guess it's true but I don't know how
Your words are always there and I shouldn't care
They surprise me, reminding me
What I can't say to you

10 & 2

I'm a Crusader

I'm a want ad
I'm a want ad for it
She's wanted
She's wanted on it

I wait, I wait for something
I wait for someone else to
I'm sick but I'm not wasted

I'm a liar
I'm a liar for it
She's lyin'
She's lyin' on it

I'm a crusader
I wait, I wait for something
I'm sick but I'm not wasted

I'm a crusader

In Gray & Blue

I knocked on your door
We laid on the floor
You wrote me a letter

We talked on the phone
When I wasn't home
You made me feel better

Oh I wasn't born a loner
And you weren't warned at all
So don't leave me alone

Cause I see you
In gray and blue
I'll never wander again

You got in my head
You slept in my bed
When spring turned to summer

We sat on the dock
You kicked off your socks
The words came out dumber

Oh you weren't born to settle
And I wasn't formed at all
So don't go drifting away

Cause I see you
In gray and blue

Nothing terrifies me like your shame
Nothing satisfies me like your name

I met her before
I knocked on your door
And spring turned to summer

I said I would call
We came back that fall
And I lost her number

Oh I wasn't born to love her
No I wasn't torn at all
They couldn't tear me away

Cause I see you
In gray and blue

Michael Is My Girlfriend

Michael
Michael is my girlfriend
Michael
I don't need another friend
And the world goes 'round again

Julia
Julia is my boyfriend
Julia
Let's just run away again
And the world goes 'round again

Anna

Saw you at a crowded gate when you were running late and then you caught my eye
Said you had to go tonight, get a connecting flight and so they let you by
Oh Anna, Oh Anna
Suddenly you looked the same and then you took that plane into the summer sky

Saw you in a checkout aisle and then you turned and smiled when I was at the store
Standing with a little girl, you rearranged her curls — oh they were just like yours
Oh Anna, Oh Anna
Suddenly you looked the same and then you said her name and headed out the door

Everybody thinks they know
Everything they need to know
And everybody wants to know the score
What for?

Saw you in a winter lake and in the leaves that shake before they fall away
Saw you in a field of kids doing the things we did before you went away
Oh Anna, Oh Anna

Thought that we would be the same but now you're just a name that I can never say

At the End of the World

What's the punishment now for not wanting it all?
For a diffident living and a forward crawl

We can feed on air and let the sun go down
With some dusty volumes and no wolves around

At the end of the world where were you?
At the end of the world dreams turn blue

There is no north star and we're floating away
On the longest orbit straight into the fray

You can hang your pots
Like some neighbors do
But you're only hiding holes inside of you

At the end of the world where were you?

I'll take a shot in darkness
Can't make me try to stop this
Not right away
Not any day

We'll go down
I know now

I Come Running

Set it up
Knock it down
Take your time and turn it 'round
So I wait, I wait

Put it off
Drive all night
Get it wrong or make it right?
And I wait, I wait for you

Hold it in Let it go
Everything we used to know
So I wait, I wait

Mess it up
Let it be
What you want or what you need
And I wait, I wait for you

I come running
Back to you
I come running back to you

The Double

It's been a little less than a year
It's been a little while since the last time
I came to put my hand on the screen
You didn't recognize my mean, mean
Mean, mean face

I wish I could see you now
You would never know that there was someone else
I'm sure I wouldn't tell you his name
But who else could know he had the same face
The same face as you

I wasn't looking for a replacement
I wasn't looking for the familiar
Of another, in another
In an other

If I could see you now
I'd like to say something about the last time
The way we saw ourselves on the screen
We had to recognize our mean, mean
Mean, mean place

I was looking for a replacement
I wasn't looking for the familiar
In another, of another
Of an other

How can you know if it's rhyming or the timing that shows
